AGENCY

MTArt Agency is proud to present “Lockdown Stories”, an art installation by Andrea Tyrimos, at St James’s Market Pavilion in collaboration with The Crown Estate to welcome Londoners back to the public realm. The show explores mental health issues and how people coped during the first lockdown. This art exhibition consists of a series of portraits and audio recordings of lockdown stories.

You will have the chance to walk by our project and listen to the stories of a range of anonymous people from all backgrounds. In these beautiful stories, from students to an NHS doctor, you will have a glimpse of their daily lives, and how little things such as seeing the “lovely things that the local community have done to support [the NHS]” and “hanging art on walls” have helped them mentally to live lockdown in the most positive way possible.

Andrea Tyrimos is a multidisciplinary artist based in London represented by MTArt Agency. Andrea explores mental health through paintings, installations, audio art and public art. Through her “Bipolar Picasso” series, Andrea pushes the boundary of portraiture by combining audio and visual elements. In this series, spectators are immersed in a sensory exploration of the mind of people suffering from mental health issues. In February 2021, Andrea joined the #LightItBlue project, an initiative part of the wider #MakeItBlue campaign in the UK, to encourage people to share their own messages of gratitude and solidarity to the NHS. Andrea’s portrait of an NHS worker was diffused on digital screens in central London.

“I’m really proud of this collaboration with MTArt Agency and St James’s Market Pavilion – because not only is it bringing art to all, it’s giving people the opportunity to reflect on a historic time, their time during lockdown, and to take a moment to think about what they’re grateful for and how they’re maintaining their mental health.

The cabinets contain oil paintings on steel as well as portrait pencil studies of those who have taken part. Alongside these are objects from my studio showing my working process; palettes encrusted with dried oil paint sit next to stained jars and scraps of canvas – giving the visitor an insight into my own time during lockdown.”
